I love my humans. They've been extra nice to me lately. They have got a better computer to run my favorite stuff on. I'm so happy!

It's been a rough year so far. I've had to deal with whining Tigress who keeps going after black cats! Why does she do that?

This new cat thinks he can run the show. I think not. I have plans for him...

Now if only daddy would get my os done...

New cat

My humans brough home an additional cat last week. His name is Vader, he's black (at least they chose one with a good color) and he's the same age as me. Obviously not as cool as me (no BSD named after him!).He's got this kink at the end of his tail. I tried to look at his tail further and he hissed at me! I can hiss at him, not the other way around.

Valentine's Day

I love Valentine's Day. Tigress always prefers me to Henry! Not to mention I got tuna this weekend. I love tuna.

Time to nap.

Hmm...

Daddy needs to fix my theme. It doesn't look right when I login! Its probably Henry's fault. His inferior blogging service! I have not been spoiled enough today. Its a shame.

I rule

I'm the best cat in the whole world. Only I have an operating system named after me. Only I have millions of fans. Well maybe garfield has fans but I'm still more attractive. My operating system has over 800 ports, working wireless and I can watch cat porn on DVD.

Mommy got a new computer desk. It has a glass top and it's L shaped. I like it. I think they bought it for me.

Ann Arbor is treating me well. Mommy and Daddy open the windows more often in the new apartment. I get several hours of sunlight a day.

Daddy continues working on Midnight BSD. He really needs to get my picture on the site. I want everyone to know why it's called Midnight BSD. It's my BSD! The CVS is on an all black computer too.

I have to go bug Daddy and make sure he's making progress on Midnight BSD.

I am in Ann Arbor now!

I am in Ann Arbor. Good things about the city - 1) more kitties 2) more culture and 3) several pet food and supplies stores. Bad thing is Daddy is packing up our stuff in Kalamazoo. I can't wait until he is here full time, working on Midnight BSD.

Guess what - we're moving (again)

Recently I found out we're moving again. :: pff :: It's not that I am extremely happy with my current apartment. It is more that I hate moving. Plus, we're moving to a completely different city.

Of course Mommy and Daddy reassured us that we're coming with them. I knew that already - I mean how many times have they moved me?

I don't know what Mommy will be doing but I do know we're moving because she got a new job there. I hope this move doesn't stop Daddy from working on MidnightBSD.

I've been planning a way to convince luke and caryn to buy a new Mac. They haven't bought one for several months! I want an intel mac so I can impress my friends on the internet. Rip. Mix. Meow. I'll just go back to sleeping on the couch now.

Yesterday, Tigress pulled my whisker out and I got an upset stomach. Henry and Tigress laughed at me. (well pointed and nodded) I got a little sick next to daddy on the bed and on his coat. He yelled at me for a long time and its not my fault!

Home - where else would I be?

I need to convince Mommy to put up the witch calendar. Mommy and I are witches. Ok I am a "witch kitty" but that's a witch that happens to be a cat. I even look like a witch kitty (black with gold eyes).

Hope you all had a witchy holiday season.

I finally convinced my humans to create me a justjournal account. Henry and I did give Luke the idea for this site. The least he owns us is a lifetime account.
