Highest Calibre Of Cheap Escorts

The cheap London escorts that infiltrate our city has nothing to do with their style, their way of life or their character. It simply refers to the accessibility factor, and that those at Strawberry Girls understand that companionship isn't just for those with money. It needs to be obtainable for everyone. Which is why the prices at Strawberry don't change; any girl on our site is available to anyone for £110. At a time when people are being forced to cut back on certain aspects of their lives that are not deemed a necessity, we've had to work twice as hard to ensure our clients that we were worth it. Because of the force that we have come up against, with some viewing the company of an escort as a luxury, we've really outdone ourselves in terms of quality when it comes to the companions available. Whilst the saying goes quality not quantity, we know that without quantity, we would be left with unsatisfied clients who have to wait for one of the girls to come available. This is why we're proud to say we're excelling on both counts.

The women that work with us at Strawberry have all arrived at us through our recruitment site that we operate to get the best women who are looking for escort work in the big city. With many working as independent escorts, i.e. without an agency, they've found in these uncertain economic times, that it is incredibly difficult to work alone. Scheduling all your own appointments, arranging safety and ensuring that there is a steady stream of work has meant many have turned to the agencies. This means that any new recruits that appear at Strawberry are Experienced In The Escorting World, already understanding what is expected of them. And because they've been out there on their own for so long, they've had to work harder, relying solely on word of mouth.

The cheap London escorts that are available at Strawberry Girls help us go further in our attempt to make escorts accessible to everyone. Unlike certain things in the city, it can be all too easy to stumble across things that aren't designed for everyone; this is not how we see the companions of this glorious metropolis. Not wanting to market them as a budget activity, some of our clients come to rely on these women to get them through a hard week at work, perhaps they're experiencing some problems in their social lives. Either way, our clients don't need an excuse to spend time with the bodacious beauties that line our galleries. We just ask they have an appreciation of the art of companionship, and will treat our ladies with the respect they wholeheartedly deserve.
