Amazon Launches Instant Video App for iPad Users to Stream Content

Apple's

iPad is the best popular and fashionable high tech gadgets currently in the world. It is widely used for watching movies, playing games, reading books, listening to music, as well as browsing the website. It has the large 9.7-inch screen, very lightweight size, and 10-hour battery life, it is as convenient as a small iPhone for you to bring anywhere and enjoy the entertainment at any time.

Now

a good news is coming for iPad users that Amazon has just launched a new video streaming iPad application -

Amazon

Instant Video

in the App Store, which means that you don't have to watch video from Amazon with Kindle Fire or use a iPad

video converter Mac

for conversion. Amazon has more than 120,000 videos to rent or buy, it noted. The app features access to thousands of titles available from Prime Instant Video. It comes preloaded with a selection of top video titles, and you can add other titles directly from Amazon. Members of Amazon Prime, a free shipping program which costs $79 a year, can also stream more than 20,000 videos for free and the new iPad app gives these customers access to this content too, the company said.

The

iPad app also comes with Whispersync, a technology first rolled out in Amazon's Kindle e-book apps which lets users stop reading on one device and pick up where they let off on another gadget. For example, if you start watching The Avengers on your iPad, you can pause and pick up where you left off on a Kindle Fire, PS3, PC, Mac, or hundreds of models of connected TVs and Blu-ray players.

Features

of Amazon Instant Prime include:

*

Stream thousands of titles available from Prime Instant Video at no additional cost with a Prime membership, or watch over 120,000 videos available from the Amazon Instant Video store

Download purchased and rented videos from Your Video Library

Shop over 120,000 videos available from the Amazon Instant Video store by visiting Amazon

Add videos to your Watchlist from a PC, Mac, or Kindle Fire for later viewing on your iPad

Subscribe to a TV Season Pass by visiting Amazon and episodes will automatically be available on your iPad the day after they air

Start watching on your iPad, and resume watching right where you left off on a Kindle Fire, PS3, PC, Mac, or hundreds of models of connected TVs and Blu-ray players with Amazon Whispersync.

This

Amazon Instant Video app now is only available for iPad, there has no iPhone version yet. Prime members can get their on-demand video fix on iPad with no extra cost. However, some users say the AirPlay streaming appears to be working with just audio, and not video. So this is the main problem that Amazon needs to solve in the future update.
