Why Hiring An Expert Criminal Immigration Lawyer Essential

Criminal Immigration Law is a relatively new concept and describes the overlapping area between criminal law and immigration. It is not a secret that criminal convictions can set off deportation. Are you aware that immigration status of a defendant can trigger an immigration hold that may lead to interfere with critical criminal sentences such as drug or alcohol treatment, release on probation or parole?

Anyone with even the most basic legal knowledge knows that criminal convictions can sabotage immigration proceedings and even cause mandatory deportation, mandatory detention, and disqualification from eligibility for relief from removal in immigration proceedings. In Padilla v. Kentucky, 130 S.Ct. 1473, the United States Supreme Court acknowledged that "deportation is nevertheless intimately related to the criminal process." Therefore it is extremely important that the immigration lawyer you choose should not only be well versed in criminal law but also have superior understanding and expertise in Criminal Immigration Law.

Rahul Manchanda of Manchanda-Law Offices PLLC can prove to be invaluable help to those who live in and around New York as he is the person who literally invented the field of Criminal Immigration Law over 10 years ago. You can safely assume that he is one of the finest legal minds of New York who not only has a deep understanding of the criminal immigration law but also has sufficient experience in handling numerous related cases successfully.

It is mandatory for criminal defense attorneys to advise their clients on the immigration consequences of their pleas. If they fail to do so, it constitutes "ineffective assistance of counsel."

The wrong plea can put a client in removal proceedings and destroy any hope of relief from removal. It can make their deportation imminent so the immigration consequences of a plea can be far more troublesome than its criminal consequences.

At Manchanda-Law, the experienced lawyers provide advice on immigration consequences of different offences help a client in constructing immigration-safe pleas. They not only know the kind of post-conviction relief is effective in immigration court but also know how to obtain it. In fact, their in-depth knowledge and experience of handling cases related to criminal immigration law make them most appropriate criminal or post-conviction lawyers.

Fighting For Minorities And The Oppressed In New York City

Having practiced Criminal Defense, Immigration Law, Deportation Defense, and Civil Rights Law in New York City for the past 10 years, I have seen my share of the disgusting, oppressive, and awful treatment of minorities and immigrants by the Police, FBI, Department of Homeland Security, and Immigration and Customs Enforcement. Often times, the District Attorneys and Judges presiding over these types of cases are part of the problem, as many of them socialize and consider themselves friends or political allies and connections, routinely leaving Defendants of unfair and immoral charges and oppression in the dirt, only to make private deals amongst each other for purposes of expediency.

This of course sickens me, and is one of the main reasons I do what I do -rectifying this discrimination and racism - one case at a time.

Racists often say that minorities and immigrants have more of a propensity for crime and violence and that's why so many of them are incarcerated, and that's why the jails are predominantly minority dominated with blacks, hispanics, arabs, asians, and other racial minorities.

But I know, from my own experience as a minority, witness, and an Attorney to this sometimes sick, corrupted, and twisted legal system in New York City, that this is only because when rich white kids engage in criminal activities, they are rarely if never arrested, charged, or even put through the Criminal Justice System.

And if they are put through it, 9 times out of 10, their wealth, money, political power, or connections get these cases either dismissed or plead down to a mere slap on the wrist.

I am a "bulldog" Criminal Defense/Deportation Defense Attorney, and I promise you that if I am your Attorney, I will not relent or ever give up on you or your case, regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, or creed.

As a minority myself, I have seen the serious abuses of the system and the oppressive/unfair/racial discriminatory treatment meted out by those officials charged with safeguarding our Judicial and Criminal Justice System, and I remember that each and every single time I take on a new case, I make sure to inject into all of my Associate Attorneys and Legal Staff the same passion, indignation, fighting spirit, and protection of the civil and god given inalienable rights of each and every client I have the privilege to represent, whether their case is big or small, it doesn't matter.

It's your life, and you want and need the BEST.

Rectifying The Inherent Inequality In The Immigration Law System

Having practiced Criminal Defense, Immigration Law, Deportation Defense, and Civil Rights Law in New York City for the past 10 years, I have observed that an unfortunate and inherent characteristic of the Immigration Law System in this country involves a major flaw at its core - the "Beneficiary/Sponsor" relationship. This flawed process vests too much power and authority into the hands of regular Americans and companies, without care for whether or not they are good people, mentally sane, cruel, racist, or otherwise deeply flawed individuals. It literally gives them the power of life and death over tens of millions of foreigners who reside in the United States. If that "Sponsor" decides to, on a whim, they can overturn, disrupt, and ravage the lives that the "Beneficiary" has built up over years, sometimes decades, thus destroying not only their lives, but the lives of their dependents and family members depending on them for their next meal or their homes. Whether its an unscrupulous Employer or Abusive Spouse (male or female) who pulls the rug out from under the unfortunate but hopelessly dependent Employee or Spouse (male or female), the results are always the same - abyss for the Beneficiary. That's why its always important, at every immigration consultation that I have ever done, that I ask if that person who is now in the throes of Immigration oblivion, if they were ever married, employed, or a victim of crime. Astonishingly, nearly 90% of the time, this was the case, and that individual is eligible for either a VAWAm Petition (spousal abuse if married to a US Citizen/Greencard Holder), a U Visa Petition (victim of crime from an undocumented spouse in the US or other unscrupulous Sponsor or company paying below minimum wages or other labor violations), or an S Visa (the Immigrant having knowledge of crime), or a T Visa (victim of trafficking). Unfortunately, oppression, slavery, exploitation, and abuse were inherent characteristics of this Nation when it was founded, as this country was built on the backs of slave labor while exterminating the indigenous people living in the United States, and old habits die hard. The Immigration Law system in this country has unfortunately (whether consciously or not) inherited this bloody and unfair legacy of oppression on those less fortunate for the enrichment and aggrandizement of its oppressors. Together we can surgically excise that inherent cruelty from the US Federal government and its Immigration Legal Codes, by asking the right questions, and rescuing our nation's most vulnerable populations (the Immigrants) from the deathgrip and jaws of tyranny by pursuing the types of immigration relief and remedies I have described above. I am a "bulldog" Criminal Defense/Immigration Law/Deportation Defense Attorney, and I promise you that if I am your Attorney, I will not relent or ever give up on you or your case, regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, or creed. As a minority myself, I have seen the serious abuses of the system and the oppressive/unfair/racial discriminatory treatment meted out by those officials charged with safeguarding our Judicial and Criminal Justice System, and I remember that each and every single time I take on a new case, I make sure to inject into all of my Associate Attorneys and Legal Staff the same passion, indignation, fighting spirit, and protection of the civil and god given inalienable rights of each and every client I have the privilege to represent, whether their case is big or small, it doesn't matter. It's your life, and you want and need the BEST. Call me at (212) 968-8600 or email me at info@manchanda-law.com to discuss your case and matters.
