New Girl...

Hi, everybody! My name is Aly. I am new here, as you can probably tell, so would definitley love to make friends. Some random things about me: I am thirteen years old, and am madly in love with Nick Jonas. OMJ, he's absolutely gorgeous! My favorite book series are the Twilight books. I am a hardcore competition cheerleader and I live smack in the middle of Atlanta. I know that many of you think that Britney Spears is whipped, but I love her. I am currently at TIP Camp - look it up - and am having a blast, no matter how dull it may seem. I met a sweet girl named Abigail who is sitting next to me right now reading a fanfiction that I told her to read about the Jonas Brothers. She's not crazy about them, though. I kind of made her do it. It's on fanfiction.net called 'For the Moment' by 'pennylee22' and one of the most inappropriate things that I have ever read, but I love it. Abigail just told me that she likes the fanfiction. It's my favorite one ever! Hey, if you go on my BFF Madi's online journal (molj.blogspot.com) you can see photos of me and my other friends on her trampoline in crazy outfits. The last three pics are of me. We had so much fun! I hope yall reply. This will be fun!
