I'm sitting here listening to my friend Ebbie sleeping. I just played a round of guitar hero, and watched Tangled. It made me miss Colton AND Josh. A double whammy if you ask me. I've been talking to Chris/Will all night. I really like him, but don't think he has any feelings toward me, so I've decided not to say anything. I'll just sit back and see if anything happens. I really do need to know what he would prefer to be called so I can stop referring to him as CW. It's two days until Christmas, but I don't feel like Christmas yet. I was on the beach and in Morehead City shopping today in shorts. Gosh what to do? I feel like my life is crazy right now, but it's not. It's full of a lot of guy problems. I don't know. Some days you're the bug. Some days you're the windshield. I have work 4-8 tomorrow. I guess I better get SOME sleep.

Waiting to go to work. Gotta go get ready at 3. I hate my weekday job. I wish I could have my weekend job all week long. Although, I'd have to dash back to Swansboro from Jacksonville everyday.

I don't know how I'm going to do it next semester.

Four classes. volunteering for middle school drama, middle school musical, high school musical, and high school choir, not to mention the two jobs i have and maybe a third?

Gah. I think I'm crazy. Anyway, it's about time to go get ready for work.

Yuck.
