My first post!

Mommy and Daddy yelled at me this morning. I guess I have to learn how to be a grown up kitty.

Howl-o-ween party

Mommy took me to a "howl-o-ween" party last night. I had lots of fun laughing at the dogs in costumes. I must say Petsmart is a good food store, in addition to dry food they had live fish, birds and mice! Talk about one stop service.

I got my picture taken last night. Of course I look beautiful in it.

Mommy and Daddy will be home for a few weeks, and I am very excited. The apartment gets kind of cold when they're not here, plus they play with me!

Midnight is not happy with me because he thinks I overstepped my kitty authority. Silly Midnight.

Ummm... I've had a pretty weird day today. Henry humped a blanket in front me. He's weird sometimes.

Mommy and daddy forget to give us dinner last night (they fell asleep before giving us dinner). Henry was really annoying about the whole thing last night, all he could say was that he was starving. Midnight and I played to pass the long, hungry night away.

I'm a city kitty now!

Last time I updated I lived in Kalamazoo, now I live in Ann Arbor. All 5 of us moved to Ann Arbor. Mommy got a new job here and we were all residents of Ann Arbor. Ann Arbor is so much different from Marshall. I like Ann Arbor. Though I have to keep on cat fashions.

I turned two so I'm technically a woman cat. I must admit I do like to play still. I like to chase Midnight's tail.

Mommy has today off from work and Daddy will be staying at home most of the summer. He's starting at a new school this fall. He's been working on MidnightBSD (first release will be called Tigress). Also he's been moving all the websites to our new apartment servers.

We also have these machines to wash and dry clothes. They're neat.

Wow I haven't updated for awhile

Well I just had my 3rd birthday! My second birthday in Ann Arbor. I have sort of used to Mommy's work schedule. Daddy's spending more time with us this summer which is really nice. I've gotten used to living in Ann Arbor. It was really weird in the winter though, the animals outside are a little different but we didn't get as much snow. Back to nap time.

I have strange humans

Mommy brought home another kitty to live with us. I do feel sorry for him, his old owners made him leave - and he needed to find a new home right away. However he's stubborn like Henry and Midnight. He will have to respect my authority and rules. At least I'm still the only princess in the apartment still.

balin is such a pain

I don't understand why he's always getting in my way and invading my territory.

Love being a princess.

Everyone else can't love me like I do.
